Legacy Risk Solutions Merges With Atlanta-Based PointeNorth Insurance

Georgia-based Legacy Risk Solutions, a network of independent insurance agencies, has merged with PointeNorth Insurance Group, bringing more options for agents in commercial and personal lines.

The combined firm will operate as Legacy Risk Solutions, headquartered in Gainesville, Georgia, the company said in a news release. Legacy said it has more than 600 employees in 40 offices. Jason Griffith will continue to serve as CEO of Legacy Risk Solutions alongside Matt Wells, who is now president of Legacy Risk Solutions.

Both companies have seen rapid growth in recent years, acquiring more than 55 firms. PointeNorth, based in Atlanta, acquired three Alabama agencies earlier this year.

Legacy clients will now have access to more specialty products in hospitality, trucking, investment real estate and property management, as well as construction and transportation insurance, the companies said.
